The Senate, on motion of Mr. Cullom proceeded to the consideration of the Senate bill to amend the Interstate Commerce Act.

the provisions of the act to express companies, sleeping-car companies, and stock car companies, but as it would only provoke discussion and retard the passage of the bill he would reserve the proposition for the next session.

Mr. Reagan intimated that the commis-

The House bill to regulate liens of judgment and decees of courts of the United States (with amendments) was passed.

cable for the committee to make its report at the present session, and directing the committee to report immediately, with or without recommendation, all the evidence taken by it relating to the so-called sugar trust, and also, in a separate report, to support the evidence taken relating to the so-called Standard Oil trust. Referred to the committee.

Mr. Ford of Michigan offered a resolution reciting the allegation that the present immigration into the United States is excessive, artificial and injurious, and is encouraged to satisfy private greed; and further alleging that the law prohibiting ing industry. An industry which last year had produced 340,000,000 pounds of cotton hardly be termed a languishing industry. He quoted and denied the assertion of the gentleman from Iowa (Mr. Holmes) that the gigantic sugar trust was gotten up for the benefit of 1200 planters of Louisiana.

200,000 and 300,000 persons, instead of being in with the sugar trust, and instead of helping to put the price up, were helping to bring it down.

Mr. Fuller of Iowa offered and advocated an amendment, placing all sugars and molasses on the free list. Rejected.

Mr. Cannon's amendment was then rejected—37 to 108.

Mr. Dingley of Maine offered an amendment, fixing the duty on sugar not above 13 Dutch standard, testing not above 70 per cent, seventy-one hundredths of 1 cent per pound, with an additional duty of two one hundredths of a cent per pound for each additional degree of purity above 70 per cent.

Mr. Payne of Pennsylvania hoped Mr. Dingley's proposition would be acceptable to every Republican and Democrat on the floor. The Mills Bill proposed 68 per cent., and Mr. Dingley's amendment proposed 41 per cent. The amendment would reduce the revenue, the amendment was adopted, it would amount to a saving of 50 cents for every man, woman and child. It would have the effect of breaking up the sugar trust, and the Democrats voted against the proposition, the people this fall would draw the necessary and proper inference.

The amendment was lost—8 to 105.
Mr. Wouk of Tennessee said it was

Mr. McComas of Maryland inquired of the Democratic members of the Ways means Committee, whether or not they had not given a hearing to Mr. H. Meyer of New York, who had been examined on the 12th of that month before the Committee on Manufacturers.

A long debate followed between Mr. Breckinridge, Mills and McComas, in view of the fact that Mr. Breckinridge and Mills denied the charges.

EAST SIDERS.

THE BOARD OF TRADE PREPARING FOR MIGHTY WORK.

East Los Angeles Will Have a Change of Government, or She Will Know the Reason Why—They Give City Officials a Hard Name.

Saturday evening the East Side Board of Trade met and elected the following officers: President, D. Gilbert Dexter; vice-presidents, William Vickery, L. M. Brown, David Carr; secretary, H. H. Cooper; treasurer, Uri Embury. After the audience had settled down to business, the new president delivered the following address, which is of interest to every man in Los Angeles:

Gentlemen of the East Los Angeles Board of Trade: Whether true or untrue, it is evident that public opinion tends to the belief that the city of Los Angeles is one of the worst governed cities in the land. It may not be policy, as that much abused word is so often applied, to say that the sanitary condition of the city is not only shameful but actually dangerous. It would certainly be food for scandal, and perhaps cause for legal action if you dared accuse any one of our city officials of jobbery or having complicity with those who draw money from the city treasury. It would not be pleasant to say that some of the guardians of our city conspire with those who obtain their money in an illegal manner. And yet it is often intimated that "for ways that are dark," etc., there are those who would disdain to be called in a derogatory manner. Who are the art of gathering shekels obtained in not a purely legal manner. Whether there has ever been an illegal act on the part of those in authority we certainly are not cognizant.

Far be it from us to accuse directly or indirectly any one officially connected, or otherwise, yet we do most emphatically affirm what has become a notorious fact, that the streets of the city, as a rule, are in a most discreditable condition, that effective sewerage is demanded, and that at once; that the police department is in a deplorable state if we take the statements as facts which are given in the reports of the daily press. These and many more are the grievances which the great and good public bear with more than a Christian fortitude. It might be an interesting chapter to read as to the manner of awarding contracts. The secret history of a city like this might prove more exciting reading than the most attractive novel.

It is certain that the time has come when a radical change for the better is demanded. The people, regardless of wealth or position, should arise and demand reform in the affairs of the municipal government. It has become a crying necessity that should be borne no longer. It is not a matter for a party to settle, but for the people in their might and power. The best men, regardless of party, should be selected to fill all places of official trust in a city like this. The best government is that which is run by party lines, as such, are never drawn, but where the people rule. Let it be so in the beautiful city of "the Angels"—the city I love best.

During the existence of this Board of Trade there has been some progress in the way of improvements in East Los Angeles, which I believe it is fair to say has been partly due to the irrefragable efforts of this board. It is to be regretted that every citizen of this side of the river should not take interest enough in the progress of the community to not only join the board, but unselfishly work for the best good of the whole. If such unity could be obtained the power of this part of the city would be felt and our petitions at least heard when presented to the consideration of the Council. The present time is most important to every citizen on this side of the city. The agitation of questions pertaining to the present and permanent interests of the people is needed and a right decision reached. This can only be done by meeting together and putting forth a united effort.

The grading and opening up of streets, the building and care of bridges, school accommodations, building of hotels, opera-houses and halls for public accommodation, with many other important matters which are constantly accumulating in a growing community like this. Perhaps no one matter is of such deep concern to this city as a whole as the sewage question—one that should not be trifled with and made the toy for designing politicians to play with. It is a matter calling for sound judgment, with care that all jobbery be eliminated from its system and work. The due haste manifested at the last meeting of the City Council to carry through a sewage scheme should be guarded against. The East Side is deeply interested in the sewage question, and should have a voice in the matter. Her able representatives in the City Council should see that we are properly included in the general plan, and that we have what justly belongs to us. It is not a matter to be sneered at or laughed down. It is one that deeply concerns every property-owner and resident who is so fortunate as to live in East Los Angeles.

To make the matter plain, let me say that in awarding a contract for a sewer of this magnitude the city is to furnish the right of way and to advertise for plans and specifications to accompany bids. City to furnish a profile of the route showing the nature of the ground, by which bidders can judge of the nature of the work. By this means many good ideas may be obtained, coming from the many instead of the few. There must be no monopoly in this matter—it will not go down. There is too much at stake in work of this kind. I now what I say when I assert that the cost of the sewer as given to the Council at its last session is far too large for the kind proposed. A sewer adapted to the wants of a population of 200,000 people, and built on an equally good plan, can be built and save the city thousands of dollars. I am ready to substantiate my position at the proper time in a way and manner to convince any reasonable man with the least practical experience.

I do not yet believe the City Council will dare vote a contract without first submitting the matter in the usual legal and restrictive forms. It would be too barefaced to allow one man power to dictate terms to a whole city in a matter of such importance. In view of the recent attempt to force upon the Council the building of a sewer in undue haste, I would suggest the propriety of this board taking some action in the premises as giving the sentiments of a large and growing section of this city. Let there be no uncertain sound come up from the people when monopoly tries to grasp the purse-strings of the city and set at defiance not only common usage but the liberty which every man, rich or poor, may enjoy.

At the close of the address the board voted its unanimous approval of the same, requesting its publication in the daily papers of Los Angeles.

DRY GOODS.—J. M. Hale & Co.

Just now, while we are cutting prices right and left, we propose to visit every department. Dress Goods, White Goods, Bathing Suits, Gentlemen's and Ladies' Furnishing Goods, Jerseys—in fact, prices will be cut to the lowest possible mark, and this means with us a great deal. In one week 10,000 checks and each check representing a bill of goods, is not a bad showing for 7 and 9 north Spring street, and shows that an interest is being taken in what we are doing in the way of reducing stock. When we make a proposition we carry it out, and it does not make much difference which side of the "profit and loss" column it goes. Summer wash goods are selling rapidly, Scotch Zephyrs, Tail du Nord, Cotton Albatross, Italian Fancies, being in great demand, in fact, are very suitable for the seashore, mountain or street wear. Our Bathing Suit Department is complete. Suits for ladies, in flannel and jersey cloth, suits for gentlemen, cotton flannel and jersey cloth, suits for boys, girls, misses, in fact, suits for everybody and at prices that will suit everyone.

MINNESOTA has been indulging in some more great stories.

THE English and Canadian papers continue to print flattering articles about Cleveland, Thurman and free trade.

A wiser choice could not have been made than that of Gen. Lew Wallace to prepare the campaign biography of Gen. Harrison.

THEY are betting two to one on Cleveland in New York. Before November they will be able to "hedge" by betting five to two on Harrison.

A motion in the British House of Commons to pay salaries to members was recently rejected by a vote of 192 to 155. The British Parliament will probably adopt the American custom within a year or two.

THE Senate proposes to check tariff legislation by substituting a bill for the Mills Bill when the latter comes to the Senate, as it is now conceded it certainly will, but what the Senate will substitute is not yet decided upon.

THE mass of Belgian working people earn from $2.98 to $4.56 per week. This is the class of persons with whom the Democratic party propose to bring American men and women into competition.

So loyal a Democratic paper as the Lynchburg Virginian admonishes its party that the people of the tobacco State are getting restive over the failure of the Democratic majority in the House to repeal the tobacco tax.

GOV. GRAY of Indiana is a good deal impressed with the difficulty of carrying that State against Harrison. He reminds the Democracy that 97 per cent. of the total vote of the State was cast at the last election, when the Republicans had a plurality of 3324, and that it is certainly reasonable to expect that the Republicans, with Harrison at their head, will poll as large a vote this year as then.

THE Republican enthusiasm seems the more conspicuous by contrast with the apathy which prevails among the Democrats. About the only successful Cleveland ratification meeting thus far was that of the County Democratic in New York city the other evening. Nearly all the other Democratic rallies which have been attempted have been gloomy failures. On the other hand, Republican enthusiasm is kindling the whole country over, and there are great meetings and parades, such as one rarely sees in midsummer.

A LABORING man writes to THE TIMES to protest against the assertion of the Herald that Los Angeles is at present "the Paradise of the laboring man." Our correspondent asserts that there are at present in this city several hundred laborers searching unavailingly for work—men who want it, not tramp—and that such assertions are calculated to do great injury by inducing more men without means to come hither in search of employment. It is probably true that the supply of unskilled labor in Los Angeles is at present more than equal to the demand.

Palpable Absurdities.

The Trombone finds fault with our criticism of the following article, though somewhat startling assertion, which appeared in its issue of Saturday:

Right in Los Angeles city, property is in demand now at prices very much greater than were ever offered before, and no one has any for sale.

Where think that this statement is open to some criticism. It is a fact that there are more than a score of lots within the city limits which the owners might be induced to part with, at prices not much over those asked a year ago. Persons arriving from the East, in search of property, will be apt to discover this fact within a few months, and then they are liable to think that our statements regarding other matters are equally ill-founded.

What does the Trombone take its readers for, anyhow? As to its remark about "wash sales," we don't know what it means to insinuate. The sales placed on record are bona fide, as it may easily discover. It can also easily discover, what everyone but itself knows, that three-fourths of these recorded sales represent the final payments and handing over of deeds of sales made a year ago, on the usual terms of one-third cash, one-third six and one-third twelve months.

The Trombone's owl-like and absurd weekly comments on the enormity of our present real-estate business simply raise an audible smile on the faces of its local readers and cause new arrivals to believe that we are a set of infernal liars. The truth about the present and future of Los Angeles is good enough. It is just such ridiculous and palpable exaggerations as those perpetrated by the Trombone which hurt us more in the East than all the calumny which eastern papers have indulged in.

Harrison's Army Record.

One would suppose that, in view of the war record of their own candidate, the Democrats would be very careful about criticising that of Gen. Harrison. Yet the New York World undertakes to represent Gen. Harrison as leaving the army in order to take a small civil position, when, as a fact, he only took a month's furlough to whip the local Democracy and then went back to fight the Democrats in the field. The Springfield Republican says that Gen. Harrison "won distinction" in the army, which is altogether untrue. Among other engagements in which Gen. Harrison "won distinction" was at Peach Tree Creek, under "Fighting Joe" Hooker. Here is the dispatch which Gen. Hooker sent to Secretary Stanton:

HEADQUARTERS NORTHERN DEPARTMENT, CINCINNATI, O., October 1, 1862.

The Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War: I desire to call the attention of the department to the claims of Col. Benjamin Harrison of the Seventeenth Indiana Volunteers for promotion to the rank of Brigadier-General of Volunteers.

Col. Harrison first joined me in command of a brigade of the Waite Division in Lookout Valley, preparatory to entering upon what is called the campaign of Atlanta. My attention was first attracted to this young officer by the superior excellence of his brigade in discipline and instruction, the result of his labor, skill and devotion. With more foresight than I have witnessed in any officer of his experience, he seemed to act upon the principle that success depended upon the thorough preparation in discipline and esprit of his troops to address the house, and in a day, and when the collision came his command vindicated his wisdom as much as his valor. In the achievements of the Twentieth Corps of that campaign, Gen. Harrison bore a conspicuous part. At Resaca and Peach Tree Creek the conduct of himself and command were especially distinguished. Col. Harrison is an officer of superior abilities and of great professional and personal worth. It gives me great favor to commend him favorably to the honorable Secretary, with the assurance that his preference will be a just recognition of his services and martial accomplishments.

Respectfully your obedient servant,
 JOSEPH HOOKER,
 Major General Commanding.

Would it be impolite to ask what Grover Cleveland was doing at that time?

Free Trade in New York.

The New York Sun contained recently a carefully compiled editorial of nearly three columns, showing the chances of the free trade issue among the voters of that city. The article takes up each Assembly district in turn, showing the size of the labor vote and its character. By labor votes is not meant those cast by members of the so-called Labor party, but by the mass of wage-workers who are, or should be, interested in the vital question that is to determine whether they are to continue to receive the high wages now prevalent or whether they must enter into competition with the meagerly-paid workmen of Europe. A fair estimate of the size of this vote will certainly exceed 150,000 in any unusually important election. In 1880 no tariff issue was clearly made, but, notwithstanding this fact, the result of the election plainly showed the popular antipathy to anything even approaching free trade. In 1886 Henry George polled a vote of nearly 70,000.

FIRE AT SUISUN.

Seven-eighths of the Town Burned.

Twenty-five Residences and Many Stores Reduced to Ashes.

A Stiff Breeze Renders the Work of Rain Very Rapid.

Other Coast News—An Oregon Sheriff's Murder by Convicts—How a Sinking Vessel's Signals of Distress Were Disregarded—Golden-son to Hang Soon.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SUISUN, July 9.—[By The Associated Press.] At 2:30 this afternoon fire was discovered in a shed back of the residence of W. T. Bartlett. A strong western wind was blowing, and though the fire company was on the ground almost immediately, in less than an hour all the adjoining buildings were in flames. The wind soon communicated the flames to the postoffice across the street and to the warehouses at the back of the stores on Main street, as well as across Salano street to the north. The fire raged furiously, and the brick stores in the two main business blocks of the town were destroyed.

But a small quantity of goods was taken from the stores, and most of that was afterwards burned. There were eight blocks destroyed, bounded by Washington street on the west, the slough on the east, California street on the south, and Alameda and Sacramento on the north. At least seven-eighths of the property in the town was destroyed, as all the stores had recently laid in large supplies of goods for the summer.

Late in the afternoon a steamer was sent up from Vallejo with 20 men of the Vallejo fire department, who did excellent work in checking the progress of the flames.

During the fire Thomas Henley cut the arteries in his forearm; Mrs. Warden was run over by a horse, and Ed Anderson fell from the roof of his father's house.

Some 25 residences were destroyed.

Among the losers were Hon. Joseph McKenna, member of Congress; residence; H. R. Bush, grocery store and residence. In the block on the east side but one house remained.

In the block on the northwest corner the losses were: Undertaking establishment of A. L. White; Whiting & Devlin, clothing; building owned by A. L. White; bank; E. Perkins, grocery; A. Hazeltine, dry goods; building owned by W. J. Conner; Cripps's saloon; the opera-house, upstairs; E. E. Long, druggist; E. B. Alden, clothing; Dr. Harding's office, upstairs, all owned by J. D. Reeves's estate. The brick walls are all that remain of these blocks.

The postoffice, C. G. White's bakery and residence adjoining, saloon of T. H. Woods, all owned by Asa Crocker.

Express office; Frank & Son's store and Masonic hall upstairs; Frank's warehouse, Dinkelspiel & Co., warehouse and store; J. Heemster, variety store; J. Bowlin, saloon; Pioneer Hall upstairs and Solano Republican office; building owned by H. Rice. This block is entirely gone. There is nothing saved.

Robert's Hotel, owned by John Vest; Union Hotel, owned by John Philes; John Bartlett is the owner of the building; Chinese houses, grain warehouses and stores, the slough; 30,000 feet of lumber of Sullivan & Keys; blacksmith shop of Henry & Lonsban and hall of the Y.M.C.A., upstairs; stable of Pierce estate.

It is impossible tonight to make an accurate estimate of the loss or insurance.

A SHERIFF SLAIN.

Prisoners Kill Their Jailor and Make Their Escape.

WALLA WALLA (Wash.), July 9.—[By The Associated Press.] Passengers from Baker City today bring details of the murder of Deputy Sheriff Robert Lockwood of Grant county, at Canby City, Or., on the night of the 5th, by two prisoners confined in the County Jail. Mr. Lockwood and wife were visiting at a neighbor's. On Tuesday evening about 10 o'clock Lockwood went to the jail to look after the prisoners. He told his wife to await his return. Soon after his departure an alarm of fire was sounded, creating much excitement. As Lockwood did not come back his wife supposed that he had gone to the fire, but she became alarmed. About 12 o'clock she sent men to the jail to see if anything was wrong. They found the jail door open and the prisoners gone.

Lockwood was lying on the jail floor, dead, with a bullet through his head. It is supposed that on entering the jail he was knocked down, disarmed and killed. In the confusion of the fire alarm no one saw the pistol shot, thus giving the prisoners a chance to start the pursuers.

The escaped prisoners were McGinnister, charged with horse stealing, and a Platte Indian named Jim, awaiting trial for the murder of a peddler named Bright in Harney Valley recently.

A reward of $1500 was offered for the capture of the murderers. At last accounts the posse in pursuit had fair prospects of overtaking them. Lockwood was an old resident of Grant county. He had been Deputy Sheriff for several years.

A NEW CABLE.

Proposed Line from Australia to British Columbia.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—[By The Associated Press.] Owen Jones, one of the directors of the Pacific Cable Company, which is to lay a cable line from Australia to Victoria, C., by way of Fiji and Honolulu, arrived yesterday from Australia. In an interview he said: "The cable from Australia to England is already in operation, and is owned by the Eastern Extension Cable Company. It is not expected that the proposed line will enter into violent competition with the existing company. One advantage which the new company enjoys over the Eastern Extension Company is that the route of the former will all be in deep ocean, so that in the event of war no hostile ship can possibly pick up the cable and destroy it."

"The British ship Egeria is now engaged in making soundings for the new cable between New Zealand and Samoa. The work will be pushed ahead until Victoria is reached, and will be completed, Mr. Jones thinks, within six months. The cable line, as asserted, will be ready for business within 18 months."

THE WRIT REFUSED.

Murderer Golden-son's Last Chance of Life Vanishes.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—[By The Associated Press.] Argument was heard by United States Supreme Justice Field this morning on the application for a writ of error to the United States Supreme Court in the case of Alexander Golden-son, convicted of the murder of Mamie Kelly less than two years ago. Judge Field denied the writ. The State Supreme Court has already passed upon the case, and Gov. Warden has declined to interfere. It is probable that the date of execution will be fixed soon.

On the 28th of June the Supreme Court granted Golden-son a stay of 30 days in sending down the remittitur in order to allow his attorney to appeal to Justice Field. A writ of error to the United States Supreme Court. The stay of proceedings expires one week from Wednesday next, at which time the remittitur will be sent to the trial court. Upon its receipt Judge Murphy will be called upon to fix the day of execution, and the slayer of Mamie Kelly will pay the penalty of his crime between now and the 15th of September.

THE BELLA VISTA'S LOSS.

A Ship Disregards the Signal of a Sinking Bark.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—[By The Associated Press.] The bark Bella Vista, which went down 18 miles from Point Reyes, left Chelamas, B. C., June 26th. When two days out she sprung a leak, and the men were at the pumps constantly until she settled and sank. On the night of the 6th, when there was no hope of saving the bark, the ship Gov. Robie was sighted. The captain of the Bella Vista got into a small boat, summoned the ship and followed her for six miles. No attention was paid to the flag of distress, and the captain returned to the bark, when the crew of 10 men also got into the small boat, and the Bella Vista went down in 220 fathoms of water. United States sailors were picked up by the Navy City, and by that schooner were brought to San Francisco.

Gen. Sheridan Has a Quiet Day in His Neighboring, and Continues to Improve—Floods Reported at Kansas City and in Pennsylvania Towns.

By Telegraph to The Times.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Today was the day set apart by Gov. Morehouse to hear argument by the attorneys of Hugh M. Brooks, alias Maxwell, for commutation of his sentence for the murder of Preller; but the Governor had received such a number of appeals, petitions and letters from all parts of the State which he thought the attorneys ought to examine before beginning their argument, that he postponed the argument until tomorrow.

Mrs. Brooks and her daughter had an interview with the Governor, and made an earnest appeal to save the son and brother from the gallows. He listened to them attentively, said he would give the case the benefit of his very best judgment, and invited them to be present at the hearing tomorrow. He would also be glad, he said, to hear anything further which they might desire to be sent to him.

UNDER WATER.

Kansas City Flooded by a Heavy Storm.

KANSAS CITY, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] The most disastrous storm that has visited Kansas City for years raged during last night until 12 o'clock. During the height of the storm, Eighteenth street for seven blocks became a turbulent river, which flooded all the houses to a depth of two feet, and at Twenty-third and Vine the 15-foot culvert was inadequate to the immense volume of water, which backed up, carrying away two houses, the inmates of which were only rescued with great difficulty.

Those who saw the storm say that it was undoubtedly a cloudburst. Reports of death and destruction are numerous, but at this hour no fatalities have been notified.

It is said a family of four, named Williams, were washed away and drowned. The loss will aggregate many thousands of dollars.

FLOODS IN PENNSYLVANIA. PITTSBURGH, July 9.—A continuous rainfall for the past 24 hours has resulted in numerous washouts on railroads leading to this city, and trains are badly delayed to night, but as far as known there are no serious accidents.

An Uniontown (Pa.) special says: Redstone Creek has broken its bounds and submerged all the lowlands of the town, and hundreds of people are standing on the bridges watching the angry waters sweep by. Men are carrying women out of their houses to higher ground, and several feet of water stand in the houses. The place is submerged and trains are running through several feet of water, while the raising water threatens to raise the houses from their foundations.

At Brownsville the yard tracks are washed out, and 20 feet of water is standing in the cut of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Two railroad bridges above town have been carried away, and lodged against the trestle in Uniontown. The Uniontown express is still lying there, being unable to proceed further south, owing to the washouts. Rain is still pouring down, but it is the worst of the past. The rain will do much damage to growing crops, especially corn, which is badly washed out in many places.

At Washington there was a terrible rainstorm, which flooded cellars and yards. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad bridge at Triadelphia was carried off by high waters during the storm.

ANOTHER ARREST.

A Fifth Alleged Dynamiter Held for Trial. CHICAGO, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Another arrest was made today in connection with the Burlington alleged dynamite case. United States Marshal Marsh arrested George Gooding, a striking engineer, at Aurora, Ill. Gooding had worked for the Burlington road for 17 years, and is a highly respected citizen of Aurora. He was brought to Chicago this morning and questioned at length by Marsh and by the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy attorneys. He was then taken before United States Commissioner Hayne and held in $5000 bail on a charge of aiding in the transportation of high explosives, contrary to the federal laws. Being unable to secure bondsmen, he went to jail. Gooding declares his entire innocence of complicity in any plot. Marshal Marsh said that this arrest completed the present case, and that no more warrants are out.

A JUDGE'S CRIME.

He First Tricked Blackmail and Then Commits Murder. LOUISVILLE (Ky.), July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] Judge A. L. Pulliam, who killed James Miller, a wealthy farmer at Hardinsburg, was sent to jail after an examination today without bail. It has been learned that Pulliam submitted to Miller for his signature a statement that Miller had been criminally intimate with Mrs. Pulliam, and would pay Pulliam $5000. The statement was in Pulliam's writing. Below were five minutes to consider this. You may sign or die."

The feeling is very bitter against Pulliam and there is some talk of violence. Pulliam's record is bad. He was a saloon-keeper at Cloverport a number of years, and his place was the resort of women of questionable repute. Pulliam's election as County Judge was due to the reaction against a badly ordered local option law. His only competitor was a local politician.

POLITICAL NOTES.

"Our policy should be small farms worked by the men who own them," said Gen. Harrison in the Senate in 1888.

On the tariff question Missouri ought to change over to the Republican column this year.—[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The Democratic Buffalo paper which has just bolted Mr. Cleveland is the News, which has always claimed the credit of discovering him.

Hon. C. M. Depew says: "One effect of the Chicago Convention has been to consolidate the Republican party in New York for the first time since its organization."

Gen. Butler said he was out of politics. "Since my votes were counted at Cleveland in New York, I thought I might as well quit," he said. [From an interview in the Inter-Ocean.]

The Rochester Union quotes a Mugwump of that city as saying: "In 1864, to rebuke the Republican party, I voted for Cleveland. This year, to rebuke Cleveland, I shall vote for Harrison."

Is the proposition to place "German looking-glass plates" on the free list to be regarded as a recognition of the self-handed hospitality which Germany accorded to the American boy?

There has been more enthusiasm manifested over the nomination of Harrison in Indianapolis alone than has come to pass in the whole country over the nomination of Cleveland.—[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

A WINNING COMBINATION.

HARRISON and Morton "many victories and a solid North."

Benjamin Harrison opposed not only the importation of coolies by the Chinese Six Companies, but that equally objectionable kind of industrial serfdom, the importation of cheap and ignorant European labor under contract.—[Albany Express.]

Henry George, whose support Mr. Cleveland is so happy as to have, declares that "if Mr. Cleveland is re-elected, protection will have received its death blow." Some of the Democrats wish that Mr. George would not be so candid.—[Boston Journal.]

A GUILTY PAIR.

The St. Louis Elopers Caught at Topeka.

Mrs. Norton Charges Her Husband with Cruel Treatment.

Editor Moore Denies That He Stole Norton's Money.

The Injured Husband Says That His Wife Was Not in Her Right Mind—Moore's Arrest Based on a Charge of Grand Larceny—More about His Doings.

By Telegraph to The Times.

ST. LOUIS, July 9.—[By the Associated Press.] A dispatch was received this morning by Mr. Thornton, an intimate friend of Henry W. Moore, of Kansas City, and signed Henry W. Moore, asking him to forward a certain trunk of which he had knowledge to Henry W. Mason, Copeland House, Topeka, Kan. This revealed to Thornton the whereabouts of Moore and the wife of Col. Norton. Thornton made the matter known to the proper parties at once. Norton immediately swore out a warrant for the arrest of Moore, charging him with grand larceny in stealing $15,000 in money and about $500 worth of diamond jewelry. Chief of Police Hubler then telegraphed the Chief of Police at Topeka to arrest Moore. Judge Ladin, Norton's attorney, has gone to Topeka, where he will represent the property.

A dispatch from Topeka says that Moore, under his alias of W. H. Mason, was arrested in the Copeland Hotel between 3 and 4 o'clock this afternoon. It says that Mrs. Norton was also arrested, but as Norton refused to make a charge against her, or to have a warrant issued, the report of her arrest must be a mistake. She is said to have taken the arrest of Moore very hard, having broken completely down and refusing to be conducted to her room. Norton will be guarded in their room until an officer arrives from St. Louis. Mrs. Caswell, an old friend of Norton's, according to the dispatch, is to accompany Moore to Topeka tonight and will use all influence he can to induce Mrs. Norton to return to this city.

Mr. Norton now says that he is satisfied that she is not a sane mindless since the death of her child, about two years ago, and that this had much to do with her fall.

The Post-Dispatch this afternoon prints a review of the developments in the sad case and gives several of Moore's intimates a most scathing going-over for the part they took in the affair, charging that at least one of them with not only aiding to debauch the wife, but to ruin, if not to rob, the husband.

In an interview with Moore at Topeka this afternoon, he said that he had stopped at that place because he did not think anybody there knew him, and that he intended to start west at noon tomorrow unless he were taken before that time. He professed indignation at the false statements which he said had been put in circulation about the affair, and said that the $15,000 which he said Norton had brought $40,000 from St. Louis was preposterous. He promised to send the Post-Dispatch a true statement of the case either on Wednesday or Thursday.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

The correspondent of the Republican at Topeka, Kan., furnishes that paper with the following interesting telegram:

Henry Moore, ex-managing editor of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, and Mrs. John W. Norton were arrested this afternoon at 3:30 p.m. at the Copeland Hotel in this city, where they had registered as W. H. Mason and wife. The arrest was made by Chief of Police Carter in response to a telegram from the Chief at St. Louis asking that they be arrested on a charge of grand larceny. As the dispatch did not give the assumed name under which Moore was traveling the police were unable to find him. They were informed of his whereabouts, however, by a correspondent of the Republican, who was first to recognize Moore. The officers were then taken to the room where the couple were, and before any questioning them as to their identity, the warrants were read to them charging them with grand larceny.

"You are now in my custody," said the officer, "and you may accompany me to the County Jail, where we will take good care of you until parties from St. Louis arrive."

No sooner had the warrants been read than Moore burst into tears and cried bitterly. Moore placed his arm about her and tried to console her, but she continued to sob for several moments. Moore then appealed to the officers not to take them to jail, and said: "It will break her heart."

The Chief at first declared that they must go, but finally consented that they remain in the room while under surveillance of an officer. This had the effect of quieting Mrs. Norton; then she began ridiculing the idea of their arrest for grand larceny.

MRS. NORTON'S STORY.

"All we took," she said, "was $35,000, which was my own money, and my jewelry. I do not see what he (Norton) has done to make out of this. I would have thought he would have taken it on Friday night but he threatened my life. I don't want to die."

"I tell you what I would like to do," said Moore. "I would like to go right back to St. Louis and face whatever comes of it. We can prove then that no money was stolen."

"But he will kill me," said Mrs. Norton. Moore then inquired who he (Norton) would play a good attorney. The names of several were mentioned, and at Moore's request, an officer was at once dispatched for Judge McKee, who soon arrived and consulted with them.

WHAT MOORE SAYS.

Moore did not have as much to say as before. When the officer inquired what led to the elopement, he said he had nothing to say at this time. He was nervous, and acted like a man who had been told to play a plot or regretted what he had done and had lost heart to carry it to its consummation.

He said he charges against him and Mrs. Norton were unfounded. They brought nothing belonging to others away with them. They had not $40,000; he wished he had $10,000. Since he came here, he and his companion had gone down the city much the same as any strangers would, promenading the public streets and riding the street cars. They had not tried to conceal their identity. They came over direct from St. Louis to Kansas City and thence here. He said he had intended to go west tomorrow at noon, but would not say what their destination was. As to the story that they had started to Australia, he laughed, and said Topeka would not be a very convenient place to take passage from. He said it was a sad affair, but since they were in it, they will have to make the best of it. He added: "No man knows what he will do for a woman he loves."

Mrs. Norton moved uneasily about the room, at first sitting on a chair, then going to a bed, where she fumbled with bits of lace, gloves, fans and other trinkets. She seemed to be sad and sorry she had committed the rash act, and the conduct of both warranted the belief that they regretted their departure from St. Louis, although Moore tried to appear jolly and untroubled, and even boasted that he was not disturbed, and that love and not hate was his motive. He spoke bitterly of the St. Louis papers, and he said he had had the idea of stories with delight. The stories about his debts in St. Louis worried him considerably, and he was more anxious that the charges relating to them should be denied first of all. As to the consequences of what they had done, he was resigned.

[New York Evening Post.] Mr. Cleveland is stronger than his party, but not so much stronger that the issues are likely to be obscured. It will be the merit of the coming campaign that it will be fought more distinctly on principles than other since the first election of Gen. Grant, which determined the reconstruction of the Southern States.

Ready for the Fray. [Boston Globe.] Let's see, now—my feathers and fans, My ribbons and jewels and lace and trim, My handkerchiefs, slippers and gloves, My lingerie, bonnets and dresses, My dresses of silk and of satin, All packed; but O my, how I am in a rage! For mercy sake, mother, get that in!

There isn't an inch more of room, And I must have those novels from Paris. What a nuisance! Can't something come out To make space? Oh, yes, luckily there is That Bible! Whatever possessed You to put it in, anyway, mother? Whoever gets time at the beach, With such things as religion to bother.

But O, stay, there's my Bloomer of youth ret: Squeeze that in, and then run down the cover— And wait just a minute—you might Put a spot for this diamond brooch; My bathing suit's all that's left now, And I can put that in my pocket!

Randall's Silence. [Philadelphia Press (Rep.)] And Uncle Randall—our own and only Uncle Randall—what does he say about the ticket nominated at Chicago? Simply this: "I am not saying a word, until I see the star-eyed goddess of Free Trade has her cipher-book in her reticule she will easily understand that Uncle Randall's remark was addressed to her, and that it meant, 'I have no time to fool with you.'"
